

Greater Distance

The Ghost Inside

All the wrath and all the faith I have inside is eating me alive.

Most tend to put their dreams aside to get them through the day.

But my eyes are open, and I see the sky.

And I am infinite. I continue on.

I will never fear the unknown, and I am infinite. I can continue on.

Limitless and unbreakable, the wavering wishes of man are but a whimper.

Now stand up high to come and live forever with me.

All hope is not lost.

Some things seem so far away to a half-hearted and broken youth.

Terrified of the outside and everything (in your sight).

It's just within your reach.

Everything is just within your reach.