

Phoenix Rise

The Ghost Inside

I'm gonna reclaim all of this
Take it back with both my fists
Too many years passed by while I was stuck in limbo
It felt so stagnant living life in the past tense
It's time to get back up and tear down everything stopping me now

I'm more than my mistakes
What more can one man take and still survive?
Face forward into the night
I'm more than my mistakes
What more can one man take but I'll survive
Face forward into the night

Thrown into the fire
Like the Phoenix reborn, I rise
The new dawn burns brighter
So face forward into the night

I've put up all these walls, no further I could fall
Can I destroy the doubt and still come out on top of it all?

No more what "could have been?"
Win the war within
Overcome the setback and leave this hollow shell in the past
It's not much, but it's enough
It's a spark, it's a start once again
It's not much, but it's enough
To win the war within
I have to let this go - I have to let this end
I need to shed my skin, shed my skin and begin again
I have to let this go - I have to let this end
I need to shed my skin, shed my skin and begin again

I'm more than my mistakes
What more can one man take and still survive?
Face forward into the night
I'm more than my mistakes
What more can one man take but I'll survive
Face forward into the night

Thrown into the fire
Like the Phoenix reborn, I rise
The new dawn burns brighter
So face forward into the night