

Random Everyone

The Growlers

Keep 'em waiting in the dark, alone
Staring at the phone, aglow
Waiting for the man to show
But nobody can wait forever

Everyone loves you but it ain't enough
You're gonna do whatever you want

Is it even worth tearing it apart?
Used up, all gone
To win over all the vacant hearts
Of a random everyone
Is it even worth tearing it apart? (To try and win)
Used up, all gone (is it even worth)
To leave the gift behind (tearing it apart, to try and win)
To a random everyone (over [?])

We all remember the ones we caught
If we kept them or not
We all remember the ones we wronged
Even harder to let them go

Everyone loves you, but it ain't enough
Just let 'em wonder about what you mean
Everyone loves you, but everyone's dumb
'Cause you're gonna do whatever you want

Is it even worth tearing it apart?
Used up, all gone
To win over all the vacant hearts
Of the random everyone
Is it even worth tearing it apart? (To try and win)
Used up, all gone (to win over)
To leave the gift behind (all the vacant hearts)
To a random everyone
Is it even worth tearing it apart? (To try and win)
Used up, all gone
To win over all the vacant hearts
Of the random everyone

Keep 'em waiting in the dark, alone
Staring at the phone, aglow
Waiting for the man to show
But nobody can wait forever