Front Street

The Gutter Twins

Front Street ain't no place for a boy Who likes to talk ways that boys do Unstrung, young, dumb Comfortably numb

I am old as the star who bears you Black as the bitch who wears you Tears you, rips you apart And then turns it around

Come on feel me
I ain't only one
When it comes apart
We're gonna have some fun, son

Give me five minutes With your sweetest sweet tea If she's fine as your missus Then she's fine enough for me

A rod out the window
A suburban street
And I ain't slept since Monday
Jump in and ride we got deadlines to meet

People to use, lovers to break
Handful of pills, no life to take
River too cold, oven too hot
Bridge a one hundred and fifty foot drop

But there was a day I could say that I loved you Early one evening I cut through Longview Lifted you up and you turned it around

Here on Front Street
All the good girls and their boys know
Down in the mine there are diamonds
Down on the street walk the lifeless

And now I know that you're through with me Can I tell you my love dead honestly?
Life is shame and your hands are stained
Walk in chains and change your name

Go where you go but forget me not Take a memory too, if it's all you got Chase your pain with a shot of rain Dig with a spade or a razor blade

Come on feel me now
I ain't only one
When it comes apart
We're gonna have some fun, son

Come on feel me now I ain't only one When it comes apart

We're gonna have some fun, son

We're gonna have some fun, son We're gonna have some fun, son We're gonna have some fun, son Young, dumb, comfortably numb

Give me five minutes

Give me five minutes with your sweetest sweet tea

[Incomprehensible]

You go where you gotta go, forget me not Take my memory 'cause it's