

Changes

The Happy Fits

I was barely out of bed
When the walls started turning around my head
Now I'm learning how to live
In an alien world, hanging by a thread

I try to run away
But I find myself again stuck in the same place
Who will I be today?
I can't control the world or change it

And after all this time
I thought I had it figured out
But I'm still learning how to love
And after all this time
I thought I had it figured out
But I'm still learning how to love

Now I'm learning to pretend
Going back and forth through content and dread
Got meetings to attend (meetings to attend)
Give me one more week and I'll make amends

I try to run away
But I find myself again stuck in the same place
Who will I be today?
I can't control the world or change it

And after all this time
I thought I had it figured out
But I'm still learning how to love
And after all this time
I thought I had it figured out
But I'm still learning how to love

Watch for the cracks down inside the pavement
(Learning how to live, learning how to live)
Go get ahead but try to be patient
(Learning how to live, learning how to live)
Care for your dues and don't miss a payment
(Learning how to live, learning how to live)
Give your respects but don't make a statement
(Learning how to live)

And after all this time
I thought I had it figured out
But I'm still learning how to love
And after all this time
I thought I had it figured out
But I'm still learning how to love