

After The Setting Sun

The Head and the Heart

When you least expect it
When you've reached the end
There's a door that opens up
After every setting sun
And when you step through it
With nothing left to lose
Leaving only memories of
All the days you filled with love
I'm afraid I don't know how to say goodbye

I will always miss you
Never be the same
Yellow sun is rising up
And for the last time shining down on us
I'm afraid and I don't wanna say goodbye

Oh but what comes after the setting sun?
What if we are all we've got?
What if no one's there when you need someone
Just to lean on?

There never was a right time
In the course of a lifetime
And nothing ever stays the same
Running down this daisy chain
The more it all slips away, the more you try to fight it

Oh but what comes after the setting sun?
What if we are all we got?
What if no one's there when you need someone
Just to lean on?

Here comes the setting sun, here comes the setting sun
Here comes the setting sun, here comes the setting sun

Here comes the setting sun, here comes the setting sun
Here comes the setting sun, here comes the setting sun

Oh sometimes hearts disappear this way
And I know how it feels when it's taken away
And I know-ow
The more you let it go, the more you're alive

What comes after the setting sun
What comes after the setting sun
What comes after the setting sun
What comes after the setting sun
