

One Big Mystery

The Head and the Heart

Why do we try hard to fight
Everything inside
When we know that there's no use
Why we think we can fly
If we don't have wings
You know that there's no use

Why do you stand all alone
In a crowded room
Tell me who is judging who
Why not find the light
Deep inside?
I know there's one in you

If it's honesty you seek, darling
You're no different from me
If it's truth that you must know
Well, good luck on the road
Life's one big mystery

It's like you felt only
Just to believe honestly

Why do we try to fight
Everything?
When we know that there's no use
Why not find the light
Deep inside
I know there's one in you?

If it's honesty you seek, darling
You're no different from me
If it's truth that you must know
Well, good luck on the road
Life's one big mystery
Life's one big mystery
Life's one big mystery
Life's one big mystery
