

When The Morning Comes

The Idoru

let me see, let me know! who was i? what was my name? no one knows it anymore! let me fight, let me go! who sides with me with a helping hand? who's gonna be the one who finds me again? will you remember who you were, why you were alive, what made you laugh, what your aim was, when the morning comes and changes everything? will you seek the past, the dreams that were lost a long time ago, the girl in the distance, when the morning comes and changes everything days fade away, so do years, tomorrows stay, will always be ahead of you, never pass away! let me see, let me know, who i am, where i run to! let me fight, let me go, not seeking the past, towards tomorrow!