

Just Another Dance

The Impressions

Thought it was just another dance
Until I looked in her eyes
I didn't think until I felt the soft touch of her hand
Then from within my heart began to cry

Don't let her go,
You're now old enough to know
That she's the one
In a million under the sun
And though you don't even know her name
You wanna dance over again, over again

Thought it was just another dance
I stepped up without a single glance
Another girl all dressed in fancy lace
I loved her pick when I saw her pretty face

Don't let her go,
You're now old enough to know
That she's the one
In a million under the sun
And though you don't even know her name
You wanna dance over again, over again
Another dance now

Don't let her go,
You're now old enough to know
That she's the one
In a million under the sun
And though you don't even know her name
You wanna dance over again, over again

Thought it was just another dance
I stepped up without a single glance
Thought it was just another dance
I never gave myself a chance