

I Wonder

The Infamous Stringdusters

I wonder who's been on your mind
I wonder why I feel like crying
Well, what in the world did I ever do
I wonder why I'm still in love with you
Did someone take a place with me
I wonder now, how that could be
Well, I must've done something so wrong
To make you stay away so long

Questions to prey upon my worried mind
I wonder if you'll ever tell me why
What can I say that could ever change your mind
Would it matter even if I tried

I walk the streets and avenues
I wonder if I'll run into you
When there in the dark lost in the arms
I knew that I'd lost your power

Questions to prey upon my worried mind
I wonder if you'll ever tell me why
What can I say that could ever change your mind
Would it matter even if I tried

Questions to prey upon my worried mind
I wonder if you'll ever tell me why
What can I say that could ever change your mind
Would it matter even if I tried
