

Run to Heaven

The Infamous Stringdusters

I'm leaving this morning
I'm leaving on a train
I have nothing to hide
But I'm leaving just the same
There's a firestorm a coming
Coming on real strong
I will leave behind
All the people I have wronged

Run to heaven
Run to hell
I don't know where I'll end up
Only time will tell

Was an early morning
Still made it through the day

She said she wouldn't stay
I drink away my sorrows
And jumped into my car
I didn't think I'd take a bath
Not driving very far

Run to heaven
Run to hell
I don't know where I'll end up
Only time will tell
Run to heaven
Run to hell
Neither one will take me then
I'll go back to that cell

I was a decent person
Or so I've been told
I can recall those times
Now that I've grown old
Strange how a choice can Change who we become

No matter where you're from

Run to heaven
Run to hell
Don't know where I'll end up
Only time will tell
Run to heaven
Run to hell
Neither one will take me then
I'll go back to that cell

Don't know where I'll end up
Only time will tell
If neither one will take me then
I'll go back to that cell
Run to heaven
Run to hell
If neither one will take me

Then I'll go back to that cell
