

Ain't It Sweet

The John Butler Trio

The moon is shining bright tonight
Thinking about your face and its light
It's so bad out tonight I'm casting a shadow
And you're so far away from me

And ain't it sweet
That the two of us can be apart but in the same place
And ain't it sweet
That under that moon we can become one
Dreaming of your eyes, as bright as that light
Reminds me when I saw the forever love at first sight

The blankets are the only chain tonight
We've got the key to this heart
The lovely smell of your hair in the moonlight
The shining of your eyes that make me smile

And ain't it sweet
That the two of us can be apart but in the same place
And ain't it sweet
That under that moon we can become one
Dreaming of your eyes, as bright as that light
Reminds me when I saw the forever love at first sight

And we don't need no dust or grass to be happy
We've got each other close in our arms
And all our friends are downtown getting wasted
But you're the only drug I'll ever need

And ain't it sweet
That the two of us can be apart but in the same place
And ain't it sweet
That under that moon we can become one
Dreaming of your eyes, as bright as that light
Reminds me when I saw the forever love at first sight
