

You're starting fires like kerosene
Poison disguised as a remedy
You were leaking your lies from the seams
(You were not yourself)
Fanning the flames of your apathy

And it's all too much
To watch you self-destruct
See the sun turn to dust
It's all too much

An apparition told you everything
Drinking in distant memories
You broke your tether to reality
(You cut your ties)
Heavy, you sank into the sea

And it's all too much
To watch you self-destruct
See the sun turn to dust
It's all too much

And it's all too much
To watch you self-destruct
See the sun turn to dust
It's all too much