

Know by Now

The Kite String Tangle

I'll come home
When it is almost light outside
Coat smells like cigarettes
And you ask how was your night

You ran your car
Into a boat
That's something only you can do
Somehow we're keeping this afloat
Patched up the holes and set sail

If you don't know by now
You've got a hold on me
If you don't know by now
You've got a hold on me

And when you come apart
I will mend your tears
And when you drink too much
I will hold your hair
Sometimes when all I can
Think about's myself
You pull me up
Like what the fuck
Are you thinking

And I will always be
The one you can't let go
And scream at on the phone
I know that I'm the one

And I will always be
The first one that you see
So you take it out on me
I will always be the one

We can sit in silence
Living in your small apartment
Where you went overboard
With plants and one thousand thread counts

And I can see you're thinking the same thing
It's nice to be
Out of those hilly suburbs
And into this breathing city

If you hadn't guessed by now
You've got a hold on me
If you hadn't guessed by now
You've got a hold on me

And when you come apart
I will mend your tears
And when you drink too much
I will hold your hair
Sometimes when all I can

You pull me up
Like what the fuck

And I will always be

And I will always be
So you take it out on me
I will always be

I will always be

And I will always be
The first one that you see
So you take it out on me

If you don't know by now
