

The Devil You Know

The Kite String Tangle

I feel it so hard
It hits me so hard
The same familiar feeling
Creeping back now

It sneaks into my veins
And I have no complaints
It tells me I'm not good enough

Oh, it's so easy to walk away
This time, my excuses will fall away
Oh, it's so easy to walk away
And I'm feeling smaller everyday

And you said you'll do great things
If you walk with your chin up
And your head held high
You could do anything
If you walk with your chin up
And your head held high

Is it naive to have thought
That I'd have something to show
Or is it better to move right in
With the devil you know

In with the devil you know
In with the devil you know
In with the devil you know
In with the devil you know

I need you so much
Yeah, I need you so much
I would've hit the bottle
If you didn't catch me

And it feels like I'm making progress
With you as my compass
Show me reality

Oh, it's so easy to walk away
This time, my excuses will fall away
Oh, it's so easy to walk away
And I'm feeling smaller everyday

And you said you'll do great things
If you walk with your chin up
And your head held high
You could do anything
If you walk with your chin up

Is it naive to have thought
That I'd have something to show
Or is it better to move right in
With the devil you know

In with the devil you know
In with the devil you know
