

Friday Night

The Knocks

There's nothing left we have to say
And it's okay
I'm staring at endless sun
I got caught a while in your shade
Soaking
Waiting till the rain let up

And I, I know I
I was pushing on the "Rewind" button
Tried to go back in time
But I know we'd never get it right
So I'd rather dance alone
Than dance the only way you know how
You can read my palm, honey
See my future's bright

I only came out to forget about you
Just to find out that you're coming out too
Taking all my attention
I'm crazy to let you have it
All the hard time that I put between us
All your sad songs I got off the playlist
Won't let you make me cry
Not on a Friday night

I took a little leap of faith
From the dark age
Giving everything it takes
Now I'm finally in the right place
On the wrong day
Maybe that was my mistake

And I, I know I
I kept falling back in your arms, baby
Picking up when you call
Make you feel like everything's alright
So I'd rather dance alone
Than dance the only way you know how
If you could read my mind
You'd be somewhere else tonight

I only came out to forget about you
Just to find out that you're coming out too
Taking all my attention
I'm crazy to let you have it
All the hard time that I put between us
All your sad songs I got off the playlist
Won't let you make me cry
Not on a Friday night

I only came out to forget about you
Just to find out that you're coming out too
Taking all my attention
I'm crazy to let you have it
All the hard time that I put between us
All your sad songs I got off the playlist
Won't let you make me cry

Not on a Friday night

No, not on a Friday night

No, not on a Friday night