

Until Our Bitter End

The Lathums

Waking up in tattered clothes
Making meals with skin and bones
Where can we find
Our peace of mind?
From now on it's me and you
We'll make a vow to speak the truth
When we face hard times
On me you can rely

Just kiss me like we will never meet again
And love me, love me till the bitter end

Leg me ups and hand-me-downs
Paying rent in loveless towns
What can we do
To make more of few?
I've saved up on all my notes
Sold the car to keep us afloat
Soon we will be grown
And fit into these clothes

Just kiss me like we will never meet again
And love me, love me till the bitter end
Until our bitter end

No one wants to face their fears
Grief and pain roll through the years
What will we do
When the sky it ain't so blue?

Just kiss me like we will never meet again
And love me, love me till the bitter end
Just kiss me like we will never kiss again
And love me, love me till the bitter end
Until our bitter end

Until our bitter end
Until our bitter end
