

Pain Bubbles

The Legendary Pink Dots

Watched the boulder on the mountain bounce onto her head. I felt I should have warned her, but the first rule's "Nothing said..." So nothing's done...she smashed into little pieces, and me? I simply fled... When she puts herself together, I will hover overhead, crying "Ahhh..." The bigger the catastrophe, the more I hang around to feed on victims lying under me. I make that special sound that makes you laugh yourself to pieces, gets you rolling on the ground, gets you screaming "Ahhhh..." As you slide into the first dimension I pencil in the lines. No matter how grand your intentions, your destiny is all mine. I'm not giving you an answer, I'm just leaving you the time to find out what it's like to be here crying all the the time. Crying "Ahhh...."