

Nuclear Winter

The Lonely Forest

"Now we're leaving", Father says.
Our world's falling through, and the fire spreads quickly.
All I hear, all I know is the bombs, and the screams that haunt the sky, as their ships sail on high...I fear to leave this be hind...

Escaping, running, pulling away into our atmosphere, towards fr eedom.
They've destroyed all we've known, burned down our home, we mus t find another haven...

Soldiers, disappear, through the atmosphere.
There she goes, like a marble falling, from my weakening finger tips, and I can't forget this...the comfort that I've known

Escaping, running, pulling away into our atmosphere, towards fr eedom.
They've destroyed all we've known, burned down our home, we mus t find another haven...

It's a nuclear winter, all we have is infinite space...