

Remember

The Marcus King Band

I don't make it to Savannah often as I should
Road leads me elsewhere
Wouldn't be there if I could
Just got off the phone with you
Did more damage than anything else
Wish I could have been home
Heard you spent your time by yourself

You really don't remember
Leaving me here
When I fell down the stairs
Didn't seem to care
Lord when I was drowning
My sister came to my side
'Cause you really don't remember
You've been trying to forget

When I needed you
Where the hell were you then
Said was some place
Similar to the state of mind I'm in
Said I should've never been here
But you kept me around
Is that your way of loving me
Was it just the conscience that you've found

Cause you really don't remember
Leaving me here
When I fell down the stairs
Didn't seem to care
Lord when I was drowning
My sister came to my side
You really don't remember
You've been trying to forget

Don't forget I still love you
Hard as it may be sometimes
I wrote this song down for you
Hope you read every line
Just got off the phone with you
Did more damage than anything else
Wish I could have been home
Heard you spent your time by yourself

You really don't remember
Leaving me here
When I fell down your stairs
Didn't seem to care
Lord when I was drowning
My sister came to my side
You really don't remember
You've been trying to forget
