The Marías

Weekend in the Hamptons
All the wives were dressed in white
Leaving without laughing
While I wait for your reply

But it's never gonna come
I'm a little bit in love

Comes a time when silence
Melts away into the tides
Threw my phone in crisis
Wasn't aiming for your eyes

Never gonna come
I'm a little bit in love

I'm a little bit in love

I have one more question
Were you ever so sincere?
God, I learned my lesson
Falling for a man in tears

'Cause he only keeps me up
And he always calls my bluff

I'm a little bit in love
I'm a little bit in love
