

Gasoline

The Material

You are gasoline, you are fire and smoke, oh

I've never had a fight it's so hard
The way it hurts when we are apart
But when you hear the pain is all the same, yeah
You are my love and hate at the same time
Don't have the strength to make up my mind
So I don't know which one of us to blame
And you said

Baby don't bother, you know it's
It's all in your head
But tell me have you heard a single word that I've said

You are gasoline, you are fire and smoke
You're the air I breathe, and the reason I choke
You can light the match, but just let it go
You're the poison in my love, and my only antidote
You are gasoline, we're about to explode
We're about to explode

This is a time bomb ticking away
This kind of battles always steal me
And now I feel the time is running out, yeah
You know the way to make my heart race
So I forget we fought in the first place
But when you fuel the fire, I'm in die

Baby don't bother, you know it's
It's all in your head
But tell me have you heard a single word that I've said

You are gasoline, you are fire and smoke
You're the air I breathe, and the reason I choke
You can light the match, but just let it go
You're the poison in my love, and my only antidote
You are gasoline, we're about to explode
We're about to explode

It's nothing to see, from the looking
Let's just all burn to ashes, let go
You are gasoline, you are fire and smoke

You are gasoline, you are fire and smoke
You're the air I breathe, and the reason I choke
You can light the match, but just let it go
You're the poison in my love, and my only antidote
You are gasoline, we're about to explode
We're about to explode.
