

Lost & Found

The Midnight

When you find your love, you'll find your song
Even though you've been digging through the break of dawn
You've been pushing and the push is gone
You think it makes you strong
Strong

Ohh
Nobody knows when it goes
When it goes

Love takes some time to bloom
When it's right, it'll find you
When it's right, it'll find you

Like sunlight breaking through
When it's right, it'll come to you
When it's right, it'll find you

When there's nothing left to mediate
You take your coat and you close the gate
And you grow your hair in branches long
And you lose your days in the LA sun

Ohh
Nobody knows when it goes
When it goes

Love takes some time to bloom
When it's right, it'll find you
When it's right, it'll find you

Like sunlight breaking through
When it's right, it'll come to you
When it's right, it'll find you

We have mostly wasted time
Half-asleep and have-to-buy
Waiting for the faintest lie
And waiting for these wounds to heal

No, we're never as lost or as found as we think we are
No, we're never as lost or as found as we think we are

Love takes some time to bloom
When it's right, it'll find you
When it's right, it'll find you

Like sunlight breaking through
When it's right, it'll come to you
When it's right, it'll find you
