

Wake Up Call

The Mighty Mighty Bosstones

Not an individual Just one of the sheep Sure, I'd like to become that One in all the people But in all this need for wisdom And its a major concern Till they rescue everyone but you There's a lot you gotta learn Never ending education A welcomed wake up call Arriving at the realization I might not know it all Trying hard to be different There's stuff you'll never learn So there's no misconceptions But it's never too late To realize that what you think you know Is unjustified Wake up and get up Step up or step aside Never ending education A welcomed wake up call Arriving at the realization I might not know it all Never ending education A welcomed wake up call Arriving at the realization I might not know it all Think you got the answers And still never have a clue No one's got this all worked out Don't want to see clear that you Don't want to start to search and find You search and carry on Now there's no lineup on the line The line's not clearly drawn Never ending education A welcomed wake up call Arriving at the realization I might not know it all Never ending education A welcomed wake up call Arriving at the realization I might not know it all Never ending education And a welcomed wake up call Arriving at the realization I might not know it all.
