

Another Fall From Grace

The Mission

Oh how time has changed my habits
There's more than one way to snare yourself a rabbit
A man with no vice is also a man with no virtue
I didn't want to hurt you
I never meant to cause you any pain
Never meant to play this game
Never meant to let you down

Again and again and around and 'round
Back and forth and up and down
I die a new death every time I think of you
And the searing pain that I put you through

Another face, another time, a new place
Falling through black holes and out into space
The thrill of virtue, the rush of the chase
Just yet another, another fall from grace

It's you and me that matters to me and you
You're mine as I am yours and we are one, we are two
There is no justice in love, there is no justice in death
And I shall love you madly till my dying breath

The temptation of a fallen embrace
Just one fleeting touch and I'm lost in disgrace
I'm not a failure there, it's just to save face
Sure she'll never, never fall from

Another face, another time, another place
Falling through black holes and out into space
The thrill of virtue, the rush of the chase
It's just yet another, another fall from grace

Another fall from grace
Another fall from grace
Another fall from grace

Another fall from grace
Another fall from grace
Another fall from grace