

Typical

The Moffatts

Open your eyes
Hear all the voices inside my head
It's no surprise
Filtering through all the things you said

I can't believe that you're here again
You keep pretending there's no end

If I'm such a loser
Than why do you hang around me?
You're always trying to change me
You always say 'if only'
If I keep listening to all the things you said
You're so miserable
You're so typical

Taking your cue
From a magazine that talks to you
Filling your head
Without an original point of view
(well)
Oh look here she comes again
Runaway train comin' round the bend

If I'm such a loser
Then why do you hang around me?
You're always trying to change me
You always say 'if only'
If I keep listening to all the things you said
You're so miserable
And I'm invisible
This love's predictable
You're so typical

It's always the same
You can't find sunshine in pouring rain
Day by day
Finding someone else to blame

(oh)

I can't believe that you're here again
You keep pretending there's no end

If I'm such a loser
Then why do you hang around me?
You're always trying to change me
You always say 'if only'
If I keep listening to all the things you said
Then I'd be you instead

If I'm such a loser
Then why do you hang around me?
You're always trying to change me
You always say 'if only'
If I keep listening to all the things you said

You're so miserable
And I'm invisible
Love's predictable
Inconceivable
Unbelievable
Undeniable
Uncontrollable

You're so typical