Simple

The Moth & The Flame

They say only time will tell
But I've known since the day I fell
There's nothing I'd rather do
Than spend my whole life loving you

There is no way you can understand
Let love take you by the hand
There is no way you can understand
Things will work out in the end

So I'll spend my time loving you
'Cause you make my life worth everything
It's always been so simple
It's always been so simple
Loving you

There's nothing I'd rather do
Than spend my whole life loving you

There is no way you can understand
But things will work out in the end
There is no way you can understand
Let love take you by

So I'll spend my time loving you
'Cause you make my life worth everything
It's always been so simple
It's always been so simple
