

Galaxy

The Movement

I watched you run away and close your eyes like you were just sleeping

And maybe it's true that you dream better when the road's behind you

But I saw you pick apart all them daily truths

That could always get to you

I know that you were watching me watching you

I heard you shake the dice and bow out

Like a criminal pissed at the rain

And maybe it's true that you feel better when you can kiss that pain

But I saw in you a galaxy of unspoken things

When you looked in the mirror

And I knew that we were looking at the same damn thing

So I say

Let me be your guardian light when you walk the night

Let me show you everything I learned when your back was turned

Let me be the tree you lean upon when your feet grow weary

Let us live life everywhere we turn

Cause we say

I watched you run away and close your eyes like you were just sleeping

And maybe it's true that you dream better when the road's behind you

But I saw you pick apart all them daily truths

That could always get to you

I know that you were watching me watching you

So I say

Let me be your guardian light when you walk the night

Let me show you everything I learned when your back was turned

Let me be the tree you lean upon when your feet grow weary

Let us live life everywhere we turn

Cause we say

I heard you shake the dice and bow out

Like a criminal pissed at the rain

And maybe it's true that you feel better when you can kiss that pain

But I saw in you a galaxy of unspoken things

When you looked in the mirror

And I knew that we were looking at the same damn thing

So I say

Let me be your guardian light when you walk the night

Let me show you everything I learned when your back was turned

Let me be the tree you lean upon when your feet grow weary

Let us live life everywhere we turn

Cause we say