

Jesse You're A Superstar

The Mysterines

Nothing is ever too perfect
Or ever too broken
Except for me and you

Your sins are my joyous treasure
My life's greatest pleasure
Don't let the light go again

There is something
In this moment
I feel it like you're breathing
Through my heart and then
There you are again
Then you're gone

There is something
In this moment
I feel it like you're breathing
Through my heart and then
There you are again
Then you're gone

Nothing in this world is perfect
So what are you expecting
From somebody like me

Something you pretend is forgiven
Through another start to an end
You're left broken within
Yes, we're broken

There is something
In this moment
I feel it like you're breathing
Through my heart and then
There you are again
Then you're gone

There is something
In this moment
I feel it like you're breathing
Through my heart and then
There you are again
Here you are

Through my heart and then
Through my heart and then
Through my heart and then
Through my heart and then
Through my heart and then
Through my heart and then
You're through my heart

There is something
In this moment
I feel it like you're breathing
Through my heart and then

There you are again
Then you're gone

There is something
In this moment
I feel it like you're breathing
Through my heart and then
There you are again
Then you're gone