

Never fall victim to the constructs of the world around you
Don't let 'em hold you in the dark
Live every moment with your eyes wide open, full of wonder
I trust you'll always keep your spark
And when you're far from home I hope you know you're always welcome
I'll carry your worries and your pain

Cuz this world is for the dreamers
The curious and bold
For they've got something in their hearts
Something you can't hold
Can't capture it on film
Can't catch it with your hands
So when you meet a stranger
May you always take the chance
And stay wild

Find special moments every day among the ordinary
You never know just what you'll miss
Play them back just like a slide show, a snapshot of your memories
And cherish every little thing
Always save room for champagne and set aside a glass for me
We'll toast in spirit if we must

Cuz this world is for the dreamers
The curious and bold
For they've got something in their hearts
Something you can't hold
Can't capture it on film
Can't catch it with your hands
So when you meet a stranger
May you always take the chance
And stay wild

Cuz this world is for the dreamers
The curious and bold
For they've got something in their hearts
Something you can't hold
Can't capture it on film
Can't catch it with your hands
So when you meet a stranger
May you always take the chance
And stay wild, wild
