

For A While

The New Roses

For a while I was livin' a dream about you and me
For A while I thought we'd be alright
For a while I was happy cause I was too blind to see
For a while I fought a losin' fight

And now I leave my love, I leave my home
You will wake up and you'll find me gone
'Cause I believe you've loved me just on trial
And if I could, I surely would forget about your smile
That kept me from crying for a while

For a while I thought that I was ten feet tall
For a while my pride was your disguise
For a while I was sure it's love I fall into
For a while the truth was in your lies

And now I leave my love, I leave my home
You will wake up and you'll find me gone
'Cause I believe you've loved me just on trial
And if I could, I surely would forget about your smile
That kept me from crying for a while, for a while

And now I leave my love, I leave my home
You will wake up and you'll find me gone
'Cause I believe you've loved me just on trial
And if I could, I surely would forget about your smile
That kept me from crying
Kept me from crying
Kept me from crying
For a while I was livin' a dream about you and me
