

Bathyalpelagic I: Impasses

The Ocean Collective

There is movement in these depths
There's a place for everything

Try to make sense out of what we've been through
And I still justify the things I used to do
I don't believe in nothing - but I believe in you
Take my word and move on

I've chosen to embrace all the things that I cannot change
But I'm not sure if this helps to relieve you from bitterness

I wish I could recall every word, everything you said
You're digging in the past: a deep hole that will wolf you down
I've chosen to embrace all the things that I cannot change
But I'm not sure if this helps to relieve you from bitterness

How much control do we have over what we wish for?
How much control do we have over what we wish for?