

Feel Again

The Ongoing Concept

Keep myself strong when I am wrong and you are right
'Cause I'm the wrong man
Can't let you feel your worth is real
I've stole your dignity

There's more to this, there's more to this
But this drought on my mind and my soul is deafening (Deafening)
These voices in my head, they're telling me
That I am the wrong, that I am the worthless

Can't find redemption in my arrogance
Your sins leave you imprisoned
But I see, I see the way we used to be
Can we go back? Why can't we go back?

Me and you, we don't seem to see so
Eye to eye, eye to eye
But misery loves having company
So I don't mind
Peace of mind

My reality
The world I choose to believe in Masquerade
I revel in hallucination
Despite all my transgressions
You've brought me salvation

And I've built this house of tyranny
On the deceit that you're the wrong man
Can't let you see prosperity
But through my offering

Me and you, we don't seem to see so
Eye to eye, eye to eye
But misery loves having company
So I don't mind

Misery loves company
Misery loves company

Falling for forgiveness
Glorify the opposition
But I feel like hell
I feel like hell and that ain't right
I feel like hell
Can't find satisfaction in misery
Make me feel like I am worth nothing

Me and you, we don't seem to see
Eye to eye, eye to eye
But misery loves having company
But I don't mind
But there's no peace of mind

Keep myself strong when I am wrong and you are right
'Cause I'm the wrong man
Can't let you feel your worth is real

I've stole your dignity

Peace of mind

Can't find my peace of mind

Misery loves having company

I can't give you satisfaction

I can't seem to hide that I'm dead inside

But you'll never be satisfied

I've seen your face for the last time

Nothing left to say, giving you away

So I can feel again