

Someone Who Cares

The Only Ones

If you try to follow me home tonight
You will find everythin' that you've heard is right
You'll never return to the home you knew
Leave it all behind, it's up to you

Who wants to be happy for ever? Up to you
You know that fate brought us together
And when time has left you too weak to resist
I hope you will remember this

We survived the cold winter nights last year
Any time now my heart could melt with fear
I'm scared of losing the most precious thing I own
Wake up one day to find the bird has flown

We could have been happy for ever and ever, I'm all alone
Remember that fate brought us together

Shattered dreams have left you scarred beyond repair
I hope you find someone who cares

Someone who cares
Someone who cares

And when time has left you too weak to resist
I hope you will remember this