

Lying To A Liar

The Paramedic

There is no one else to blame,
And we all know it's true.
I'm feeling reckless now,
I never wanted to be like you.

I'm perfect at being my own worst enemy,
Knowing that no one in the world will ever see what I see,
Am I wrong in thinking that there's nothing I could do?
How did I let this happen?
I never wanted to be like you.

I'm no stranger to shame (2x)

You always seemed to strut around,
Like you could not be touched.
But little does the whole world know,
You have a crutch.
I can't deny the truth
I've become you

How can you say
That everything's ok
When you push me away.
We all know you're lying
And when you hide,
All your feelings inside
All the sins you've denied
You'll never stop lying to yourself

It's time,
Own up to what you've done.
You're trying to flee from something
That you can't outrun.
To deny the plain and simple facts,
Would be to deny what's true,
But then again,
We all know that this is something,
That you have been known to do.

What will they think,
When they see how you fell?
And no one buys all the lies
That you continue to sell

How can you say
That everything's ok
When you push me away.
We all know you're lying
And when you hide,
All your feelings inside
All the sins you've denied
You'll never stop lying to yourself

(I'm no stranger to shame),
It's feeling more like home,
(I'm no stranger to shame),
More than you'll ever know

Yeah

[Solo]

How can you say
That everything's ok
When you push me away.
We all know you're lying
And when you hide,
All your feelings inside
All the sins you've denied
You'll never stop lying to yourself (2x)
(You're just a liar)