

Hear the wayward wind playin' a sad tune
In a wild duet with her sister, the sea
Hear their lonesome cries makin' sweet music
Could you sing it just for me?
Would you sing it just for me?

Oh, I wish, my love, that you and I
Could be two white gulls skimmin' over the rains
Searchin' our the light beckonin' shorewards
Could we ever find the way?
Would we ever find the way?
Hold on fast, don't let go
Listen to the words that I know
Words of wisdom, worldly wise
Why the men of fortune are tellin' their lies

Watch the darkenin' clouds gather in silence

In the still calm air before the storm breaks
Feel the cool rain ringin' sweet fortune
Could it be for you and me?
Will it be for you and me?

Hold on fast, don't let go
Listen to the words that I know
Words of wisdom, worldly wise
Why the men of fortune are tellin' their lies

Won't you come, my love, to ride the white horses
On a wanderin' foam as it tumbles so free
Where the stars rush down to lighten the dark sky?
Would you share a dream with me?
Come and share a dream with me
Come and share a dream with me
