

Springtime Promises

The Pentangle

Summertime is with us once again
Flowers blooming everywhere again
And the cold days of winter are behind us now
And the springtime promises all come true

Trees and grass and bushes green again
The sky so blue I don't remember when
The cold days of winter took the sun away
But the springtime promises all came true
It's summertime now, so please don't throw it away

Winterworld is with us once again
Flowers dying everywhere again
And the warm days of summer will they far behind
And the springtime promises soon forgot

Cassandra she's with down the trees of air
Dark and cloudy skies and people in despair
And the warm days of summer seem so far away
And the springtime promises still forgot

It's wintertime so you've got to wait a while
For the springtime promises to come true

Now the new born year has come once more
Gentle shalls and winkles as before
It's the time when all promises are now made true
And the springtime sun returns anew

Someday all will turn to green again
Flowers will burst of seeds to bloom again
The warm days of springtime tell us all is past
Can you feel your promises will be true
It's springtime now, be happy again
