

The Good Samaritan

The Pierces

He was moving towards me like a deadly hurricane
Well the eye was on the sparrow but i was in the rain
Rolled into town and blue was smoke into my eyes
But it was only for a moment but I was hypnotized
Why can't I know secrets that you're keeping from me?
Stop, don't tell me now
Cause there is only one day more and I don't know how
To bring to life the things that meant so much to me before
There is danger in your your words that I cannot ignore
Why must I conceal the secrets I've been keeping from you, uhhh

Sorry thing it was that fell out of your hands
Then you take me in your arms become the good samaritan
Time flies by like planes above and worries me to death
Cause I loose you more and more with every breath
Why can't I know the secrets that you're keeping from me?
Why must I conceal the secrets I've been keeping from you?
