

What I Do

The Pietasters

Well I just lied again for the first time,
Well I just lied again to you.
Cast a line and I reel you right in, never should believe a word I say is true,
But you always do every time I lie to you.

Well I just stole again for the first time,
Well I just stole again from you.
Turn your back and now your money's missing, cry all night but I never listen,
What can you do every time I steal from you?

I never need to answer questions that you field,
I like to let you wonder if I am for real.
The one thing that I said, to you that is for sure
You know my love for you is secure.

Well I just killed again for the first time,
Well I just killed again for you.
You're tellin' me that I don't have a reason, crack a forty uncer and it's open season,
What can you do every time I lie to,
Every time I steal from, every time I kill for you.