

Tiny Boat

The Pillows

This side of the sloping road, facing the blue sky I kept waiting for you to appear It seemed that if I looked away for a second You would disappear completely Chasing after that fleeting rainbow, I've become a lost child

A swallow flew away I could hear the footsteps It wasn't a dream For the first time I wasn't alone

You're special, you're like no one else It's strange, it's like it was decided that we should meet It's endearing, it tickles my heart As if in a fairy tale, we found a tiny boat for two By the glimmering riverside

Right now, your left hand in my right I can feel eternity, sprawled in your love As I sit on a blue bench, breathing in the autumn The days go on by, but I'm not lonely I want to be embraced by the moonlight

The wind kicked up I tenderly kissed you We spoke not a word It was like a romantic deserted island

You're special, you're like no one else If I recall only the words, they don't hold true The two of us making a wish in this small world

Shining riverside with you I want to pin blooming flowers of happiness to your collar However many there are, I'd choose a matching color

You're special, you're like no one else It's strange, it's like it was decided that we should meet It's endearing, it tickles my heart As if in a fairy tale, we found found a tiny boat By the glimmering riverside A tiny boat that would take us anywhere

Shining riverside with you
