Knock knock knock before you enter cause the chances are I'm with another on the floor all tangled up trying to forget when we were sober so knock knock before you enter cause the chances are I'll be with whoever had a car to drive me home and alcohol to last until the morning for every argument I did not start for every chance you get to break my heart

I face another skirt chase I think I'm taking someone home for every smile I see you shoot his way for every indiscretion I will make you pay it's just another skirt chase I don't wanna be alone and I think I've got the right idea and I think I'm taking some one home so knock knock before you enter baby I've told you once before knock knock before you enter baby I'm not asleep behind t hat door $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1\right)$