

REPAY

The Plot in You

I hope that you remember days like this
When you're living somewhere new and reminisce
Things were never clearer in my head
When peace was in our home and needs were met

Made my mistakes, you'll see
That I gave you all of me
If you can take my faults
I will repay the cost

Some days I sit quiet in my head
Lashing out in thoughts I never said
And you would never pry to heal my wounds
Let me figure out what wasn't true

Made my mistakes, you'll see
That I gave you all of me
If you can take my faults
I will repay the cost

I get so sick of wearing skin
And it gets harder to pretend
You stare into my soul
Like you know it's letting go
I can hardly say
It's been worth the pain
You've been through the rough
So was my love enough?

Made my mistakes, you'll see
That I gave you all of me
If you can take my faults
I will repay the cost
