The Pointer Sisters

Now's the time to lay it on the line, boy you better believe it You had your chance to break it down and dance but you blew it by trying to tell me how to run my life Look at me just sit down and think it over can't you see that I wasn't born yesterday working girl in a world full of confusion far too cool to be taken for a fool This is my life and I'm livin' like I'm walkin' crazy high life so you better learn how to play doin' that fast life got you going 'round in circles this is my life and I'm calling all the shots this time Boys like you I know the way you do waiting something for nothing all talk, no work go ahead and do the jerk 'cause you blew it you'll never hold me with your gangster love Look at me it should be so elementary can't you see you know that I'm no stranger to the street mama said in a world full of confusion take control you were never born to lose
