

Eye Among The Blind

The Raven Age

Is it just me or am I thinking too freely?
There's something running through my head that shouldn't be
I cannot speak aloud what I'm really feeling
I close my eyes, try to believe these stories

Deep down there's something telling me
A false sense of security

As we adhere to all these things that you're preaching
Are you so sure of all these things that you're teaching?
Uncertainty won't let me stand up against it
But all this seems to cause is war and hatred

You're all too ignorant to see
It's all for power and for greed
You are the puppets on the strings

It's time to wake up from these force-fed lies
No chance for choices when they shield your eyes
Don't let me be the only one who sees
'Cause I'm the eye among the blind

When people sacrifice their loved ones for honor
There's nothing honourable in cold-blooded murder
Relentless chaos and destruction in God's hands
Can't help but think:
Is this really his plan

Deep down there's something telling me
A false sense of security
You're all too ignorant to see
It's all for power and for greed
You are the puppets on the strings

It's time to wake up from these force-fed lies
No chance for choices when they shield your eyes
Don't let me be the only one who sees
'Cause I'm the eye among the blind

How will I ever win this fight? So many on the other side
They're controlling all your minds, and no one hears me cry
Think of children born and left, all hopes and dreams bereft
The effects of a whole civilization, blinded
Put your trust in all divine, blaming all your brothers
Never knowing if wrong or right, praying for the answers
When it comes down to real life, where to point the finger
You're all pointing to the sky claiming for the greater

It's time to wake up from these force-fed lies
No chance for choices when they shield your eyes
Don't let me be the only one who sees
'Cause I'm the eye among the blind
It's time to wake up from these force-fed lies
No chance for choices when they shield your eyes
Don't let me be the only one who sees
'Cause I'm the eye among the blind
