

Trapped Within The Shadows

The Raven Age

Looking back I should have read the signs
Before me
Blinded by the light of my assumptions
That drag me down
I hate the way you try to make me feel
I owe you
Reality the chain around my wrists
And as result I'm bleeding
Bleeding dry!

I'm screaming begging you to wake up and realise
That these walls are closing in on
Us and now they're shadowing the light
So when I find a way without you and your lie
No sympathy or no regret
So don't you hold your breath

I can't believe I've led myself this way
No reason
No second chance relying on one person to light the flame
It crossed your mind, we're running out of time and options
And I'm afraid we're falling through the cracks now
And that we'll never make it through

I'm screaming begging you to wake up and realise
That these walls are closing in on
Us and now they're shadowing the light
So when I find a way without you and your lie
No sympathy or no regret
So don't you hold your breath

I can't be
Watching this
Slip away
I can't be
Watching this
Slip away
I can't be
Watching this
Slip away
I can't be
Watching this
Slip away

I'm screaming begging you to wake up and realise
That these walls are closing in on
Us and now they're shadowing the light
So when I find a way without you and your lie
No sympathy or no regret
So don't you hold your breath

Hold your breath
