Deception: Prologue

The Red Shore

Sit at his right hand and await destiny They will be lead to shield his creation Burning to keep divinity alive The saviours of his throne Leave in alliance Darkness could never succeed Immortality shall fail The sentinels of God Are certain in their presence No battle will transpire Almighty protectors Lead the fight for truth and innocence Be fearless And honour will be thrust upon you Now is the time So stand up and seize the glory Withstand vile persuasion Keep the hope of the realm close at heart Giving their all Prepared to shed blood for their kingdom Willing to sacrifice their self Wings spread on the path of resistance Lungs filled with the air of resilience But they will meet their tempter Before too long Rising from the depths of hell With plans to leave it all in ruin Whispers of deprived falsehood A fallacy so foul Darkness emerged To make an offer they can't refuse