

Walls

The Relapse Symphony

Tell me, tell me what I did, to end up in a ditch like this Losing faith in all I know
Dizzied up when the sun goes down and making out with the tear-stained ground
I'll get up but, I won't go home

Those lies from your mouth
Can't cover the truth in your eyes

So where were you, when I lost my mind
My walls came down with all my pride
Our story is ending and I'm done pretending
That blood and a name means one goddamn thing

You chew me up in your clinical hell and spit me out in your wh iskey well
Half drunk in your room, all alone
I'm no hometown hero just, some gypsy zero
With no one but, the streets to call my own

Those lies from your mouth
Can't cover the truth in your eyes

So where were you, when I lost my mind
My walls came down with all my pride
Our story is ending and I'm done pretending
That blood and a name means one goddamn thing
The curtain is falling and I'm walking away

Redemption is calling but, you're still in the way
So tell me, tell me what I did
To end up in a ditch like this

So where were you, when I lost my mind
My walls came down with all my pride
And our story is ending and I'm done pretending
That blood and a name means one goddamn thing
