The Revivalists

I thought I didn't need you, what was I thinking?
Everything that I did was so see-through, wasn't it?
I'll take a shot for you and end this darkness
'Cause everything up until now was a rehearsal for this

Now I can't believe you've taken their side
After all we've been through, was this all a lie?
There's only one truth, that everything dies
But we were the ones that were always gonna make it out-

Alive
Alive
Alive
Alive

She said, "I'm over this fight, and what were you drinking?"
I can't recall at all, but my breath was hinting
Into the night I crept with all I've been hiding
'Cause I can't say all the things that I've been tryin'

Since you've been gone, things seem so wrong
I take a pill to put me out, one to turn me on
In the morning I awake to alarm clock hell
Shoot a shot of alcohol, drop a peach down the well
It was never my intention to take this deep dive
But I always knew that we were the ones
That were always gonna make it out

Alive
Alive
Alive
Alive

I thought I heard you say
Staring out into nothing
As the sky fell gray
Take all that you have learned
All the time we've burned
And turn into something
Before it's too late

Before it's too late
Before it's too late
Before it's too late
Before it's too late
Before it's too late

Before it's too late
Before it's too late
Before it's too late

Before it's too late...
