

When I'm Able

The Revivalists

When the night comes and I'm able
I could see you across the table
You're a shooting star staring at me
I'm paranoid now why are you laughing?
So I called you just to call you
I'm on a roll now still looking for you
Looking out that window pane
I feel the soft rain I'm going down the drain
It's washing me away
That's why I called you just to call you
It's not like I left you at the altar
Got to get this boulder off our shoulder
And make this load here a little bit lighter

Would you could you see me

In the daylight you're a mystery
I catch a cool glimpse and let it stone me
When are we coming closer to what this could be Somehow I feel a little bit further
Further from the truth it's not typical
I feel invisible some days I'm miserable
So if you ever want to see me
Just take a load off wild and free

Would you could you see me
Because I see you when I am able
Yes I see you

When the truth came out it was you
