The Reytons

Broken windows and ripped jeans from bad advice
Epinephrine the cocktail of parasites
A closed circuit
Was it worth it
There's DNA on the floor and no purpose

Dislocations, the light screams a louder sound
There's complications but no time to hang about
A closed circuit
Was it worth it
Alarm bells ringing out through this circus

Adrenaline
Adrenaline

Stuck in the rubble with no chance to compromise
Vision is subtle but dust fades before your eyes
A closed circuit
Was it worth it
You're tryna find an escape but can't work it

The barrel's doubled but no time to think it twice
It's two shots in the dark and then you realise
A closed circuit
Was it worth it
A single run of the tape can confirm it

Adrenaline
Adrenaline

Stood in the shadows, the system's got you nervous
The nervous system kicks in to full alertness
A tiny crack in the tile provides a light from the sky

There ain't a second to think you can't avert this
With all intelligence used the rest is surplus
A split decision for precision, either fight or flight
